

PARENTAL CHOICE OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

FLORIDA PTA POSITION

The Florida PTA urges the Legislature to provide state funds only to publicly operated and tax-supported schools, thus preserving the concept of public education.

Background

Florida law provides for school districts to implement a choice plan within the public school system. Parents can apply to their school district to transfer a student to another public school based on the district's choice plan. School district choice plans should: provide funding for transportation; be based on equal access and equal opportunities for all students; provide clear information to all parents; and provide increased opportunity for parental involvement in the education of their children.
